What We Do

The Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD) Parent University offers a range of workshops, trainings, and resources for parents and families of CPS students with disabilities. Through virtual monthly no-cost meetings, parents and families are able to learn skills and strategies to help support their child's success, further their own knowledge, and build community and partnership with OSD and other CPS departments. Each meeting is led by the OSD Parent Support Specialists, in partnership with thought leaders, experts, and advocates from local community and civic organizations and agencies.

Upcoming Events

Join us for upcoming virtual OSD Parent University events where parents/guardians and community members can learn and receive training on a broad array of topics affecting parents of students with disabilities.
