

Services Available for Children Experiencing Difficulties

All children learn differently. If a child is exhibiting little or no progress in an area of concern after receiving interventions, they may qualify for special education and/or related services. Screening and evaluation are available at no cost to the family.

Qualifying for Special Education Services & Support

If your child is experiencing difficulties with any of the following, they might qualify for extra support.

- Hearing or vision challenges
- Physical challenges with motor skills, coordination, or physical movement
- Social interactions or emotional regulation challenges
- Challenges with speech, language, or communication
- Developmental delays or not meeting developmental milestones appropriate for their age
- Issues with ability to learn and participate in classroom
- Complications with processing information and focus

How to Get Additional Services

- 1 Identify children in one of two ways: For CPS students, a written referral from a parent, guardian, or school personnel, or, for non-CPS students, through Child Find.
- 2 An evaluation must assess the child within 60 school days after a referral is issued. Qualified professionals and parents or guardians meet to review the results.
- 3 If the child does not qualify for services, the team may consider eligibility under a Section 504 Plan or suggest other support.
- 4 If the child qualifies for services, an Individualized Education Program (IEP) team develops a plan to address the child's needs and goals.
- 5 Each child's IEP is shared with the child's teachers and service providers. Specific responsibilities are carried out as noted.
- 6 Progress is measured toward annual goals and parents are regularly informed.
- 7 The team reviews the IEP at least once a year or as requested by the parents/guardians or school and revises as necessary. Reevaluation is conducted every three years.

Child Find is an ongoing process in CPS that identifies, locates, and evaluates children from ages 3-21.
